

For the body you will need a ball of green sugar paste size 16 on your size guide. Shape this between the palms of your hands to form a teardrop shape. Next you require the legs, these are made from one ball size 14 shaped into a sausage with a bigger ball at one end than the other, a bit like a dogs bone, this needs to be cut through the centre lengthways to make two legs.

The fatter part of the legs are attached with water to each side of the body and the narrow part is twisted so that the smaller end becomes the flippers. Flatten between your fingers, square off at the end and then mark with a veining tool to add detail. The arms are made from one ball of sugar paste size 9, rolled like a sausage shape but add a dent in the middle. Cut this in two length ways to create two arms and attach either side of the body above the legs. Shape the front of the arms like flippers with a veining tool and add a belly button for fun with a bulbulous cone tool.

The head is made from a size 13 ball and flattened with a smoother at one side to create a wedge shape.

A mouth is added with a craft knife by holding the head between your fingers and carefully cutting the front narrower side in the middle and slightly round to each side. Remember to add a smile, this is done by cutting in an upward motion at both edges of the mouth. Two balls, size 6 make the eyes, these are held in place with water at the fatter end of the head and shaped with a bone tool. Two nostrils are made with the bulbulous cone tool above the mouth and the head is secured onto the top of the body.

A curly red tongue can be added to the mouth, made from a thin long sausage rolled up. The eyes are two balls of white sugar paste with two smaller balls of black sugar paste placed on top, but off centre. Pink colour can be dusted in to the mouth and on to the cheeks either side of the mouth.

Tip:
When placing eyes on models, always place them off centered. Otherwise your model will look like it's staring at you all the time!

Tip:
Spray or paint the frog with edible glaze to give it a shiny, slimy look.
